

In this half-termly newsletter we want to keep you informed of the latest online safety updates, as well as sharing information with you about how to keep your children safe online. It is vital that you know what to do if you have any concerns about your child's or another child's online activities.

ONLINE SAFETY - SEND

The NSPCC have partnered with Ambitious about Autism to bring online safety tips, advice and activities specifically for parents & carers of children with a range of special educational needs such as dyslexia, autism and speech & language difficulties.

For more information click on the icon below.

ONLINE REPUTATION

What we post online can have a real impact on our lives offline. So, helping children understand the longlasting effects of what they share and empowering them to take control of how their online reputation is created is key.

STAYING SAFE ONLINE

Think before you post - don't upload or share anything you wouldn't want anyone now or in the future to see. Once something is posted, you lose control of it.

Don't share personal details online.

Watch out for phishing and scams - someone may try to trick you into giving them personal information.

CHRISTMAS - ONLINE SAFETY

The UK Safer Internet Centre has published a useful quide with 'top tips' to help keep your household safe online over the holidays.

Click on the link to take you to the full quide.

A comprehensive page of resources can be found on the school's website.

Click on the school logo to the left to find out what is available.
